The second half will it's been a mountain of news during the week and there was something about a religious discrimination bill that didn't get through Parliament, which will be discussing. And I'll be trying not to use four letter words about in line, with broadcasting regulations for noon to one on a Sunday afternoon and during that part there will be obvious mention of transphobia and lateral hostility, but not wasting any time back into it. For the era of been practicing. I've had a double shot of coffee or something like that, because we're right into the guests, and it is my pleasure to welcome to the show today, author, and editor, amongst many other things. Also a founding Committee Member of what is now. The Victorian Pride Lobby previously, the Victorian gay and lesbian rights Lobby, Peter. Di Scascio, and Peter has Put out a book outspoken and where he's written stuff and edited other things. And declaring, the interest that I have a chapter in the book of I'm not being paid anything for it. Peter. It's a pleasure to welcome you to 3 CR and well hands, it's your first, you know, wonderful to have you with us and possibly even your first time on radio. Even thank you, Sally and good afternoon to you and good afternoon to the, this purpose. Yeah, great to have you with us. Yeah, I sort of writing a book someone once said to me.

Either who had a dry sense of humor, if you get a chance to do a PhD, don't. Now I could say if you get a chance to write and or it a book, don't with a dry sense of humor. Seriously, you haven't you've done plenty of others as well. What makes you first of all, I'll just say want to write and or edit books. Well, you know, is there and what sort of what's the thing there for you? What you know, what's that about?

Massive because I've got things to say and you know it it's one form of doing it and actually putting it down for posterity.

And that's a really logical and intuitive and Powerful answer. I can't remember who it was. He said, if you were the last person on Earth, would you write? Because you'd only be what's the some extent writing for yourself, but that's not true because the issues covered in this book. And this is where possibly, before I go further, if any of the content such as lateral hostility, which we're just going to mention in this part of the show is of concern to you. We should just say there is a rainbow door.

On one eight hundred seven to nine three six seven or Q life including switchboard in Victoria and Tasmania 1-800 1845 27. I should also remember getting back into the groove lots of ways to contact the show and, you know, sort of about the content of the show, out of the pan, 855 at gmail.com., You can SMS six, one, four, five, six, seven, five 1215 tweet at sell gold said, so, and that's the bottom line. Look for posts on my page.

Sally Gardner am on Facebook out of the pan 3C 08550 in Melbourne. And remember any opinions that I express on the show are strictly my own so I got all the fat done, but dare you, you do want to write there are things, we need to communicate and sometimes, you know, in will say, popular, broader, Community discourse and even in what might be called. A lot of the LGBTI community discourse or LGBTQa+, some things don't get talked about and you've really put them, got them.

Into this book outspoken, which is really good. So that specifically drilling down a bit further. What was your sort of thought process? What was the aha moment so to speak for this particular book? Yes. I think it was that I wrote a. The first book. I wrote was called the rise of versatile, which was looking at significant changes in gay men, sex roles and has been controversial and or ignored and

So I thought, okay. I want to produce another book where I can further those themes. But also the I'm get other people to write about controversial themes because I, like I said, I think there are things that are not being talked about that fairly obvious and it's either because people don't see them because they're in the middle of them or that they are, they're deliberately not, I'm not saying yeah, or, you know, sort of swept under the proverbial rug so to speak. So let's mention a few. I mean, I'll

Now, I'll, I'll special get out of the way. I mean, I've got a chapter in there from lateral hostility to lateral, respect, which is going to be very relevant or somewhat relevant later when we discuss. When I discuss the religious discrimination Bill there, there is definitely a linkage there, and that's something that doesn't get discussed. I mean, I'll put all sort of put this in. I I talked a lot about this on the program and longtime listeners will know about it, but when you, perhaps, you know, I sent off a draft to

You have an article that I'd written that's turned into this chapter. When you first read it. What were your thoughts on this? And some of the things that came up when you thought wow, or maybe you didn't think wow what? Well, you know put it in your own words.

Because I like understanding sitting and learning and understanding the terminology that leads us to have a certain path. And so that was good. You introduce that to me. And also it was something that I had noticed that in the game men's Community but I had sort of put it all together and seeing okay. It's a similar picture. I can put us them the same sort of tag on it. It's a similar thing that's going on. That's sort of

Open to open a window for me that I then end up writing later chapter about a lateral hostility specifically in go man. Well, yeah. No, I mean, look on, you know, a lot obviously there's been significant discourse in both rainbow communities and broader communities about gay men, but, you know, I'm not a gay man. So I don't understand those issues. So perhaps and maybe there's other trans people or don't and the chapter. We're talking about chapter 11. Can I trust

It's my brother in italics lateral. Hostility amongst gay. Men. Tell us a bit about that. Junior, give us a teaser. So to speak. Well, as opposed to thinking is well, said it from my perspective. You know, I came through much of the Liberation in the last collate Century where we did consider each other each other to be brothers. We were fighting a fight together. We were, you know, part of a minority. So, you know, I always expected that we'd

That sort of relationship that we would support each other. And it's only really, you know, since since 2000, it's one of the better point that we've seen that no miracle if we're so individual messages for persevering that, we don't understand each other. There isn't that link? And so we're able to actually, you know, still from their brother, which is the, the main example that I give, but it doesn't have the types of cost.

Unless he actually gets worse than that. Well, yeah, and I mean, I'll just, if you want to discuss that now you can, but knowing what is in there. Of course, I'll raise a straw, a higher level of content note here because some of it is perhaps a little distressing, but if you want to discuss, just give it a couple more layers of teaser, go into it. Yes. Well, my first seeing is is certainly a huge increase in the amount of theft. Now.

The part of the culture for gay men is that we seem to have a lot of sex, surprise, surprise. And and so someone would come to your home. You will hook up with someone online. And so you have visitors and it's incredible. The amount of visitors. It seems your home something in their pocket and like it. Despite the fact that you had a really good time. That's not a system is any? And am also see that it goes to areas of Fraud and like scams.

That use sexual, it's essentially, as collections, by sex that that have been used and then, to potentially assist. But also, but also rate going on and none of us here to it. Is none of it's being reported because the victims are afraid of the police because of his tree or else there or else, they're

Because it's going to have to tell a story about hooking up. It's a muscle man or something. And or they ran over there. Lizabeth, think illegal things involved like drugs, but so there's a reticence. Yeah. Look. That's a really good point. And I mean, you know, police, you know, it's an ongoing issue. I'll try to keep it neutral, but in the rainbow communities including cisgender gay men and Trance came in and all that sort of thing and there is that fear. And of course like this time last week, there. Was it virtually to the the minute Pride March and a bunch of no police at Pride protesters jumped out in front of the police as they March down Fitzroy Street, which was you know, it is an issue and also late last year just after the last show. I did live got some messages from will say various angles on the police Town Hall.

It happened, but certainly there is that issue, but it is worried that someone can't feel they can report a crime to police. Even if we have the well, rainbow liaison offices. I'm not, I've lost track a little of the exact title, you know, sort of that exists. And so that's a real real problem that this is just beginning to go out of control to that level.

Yes, and I think that it's like it's not everyone that's involved. The perpetrators obviously know that they can do it with impunity because the same have been reported. So they can stay in your community and they just repeat it. Which it isn't something that you see outside of that. That's because that unique condition is they're not they're not being reported. Yep, and he says and it's not like a huge numbers, but it's enough bad apples in the system. Hmm.

Sort of tape, take the community. So there's there's enough of this going on and and it's like, we have to change. Okay? Bad apples to the Good Apples. They have an influence on the culture, so that it's not. Okay. Well very, very true. And I mean, let's also, you know, I think in the interest of balance, there are police who I think do their best. And, but I think when you're in a position of power and influence such as,

Police have there has to be a greater degree of responsibility and, you know, the whole Bad Apple seeing the complete phrase. It only takes one apple to stink out the whole Barrel so to speak or as one police officer, put it to me whenever you put on one of you puts on that uniform. You're representing all 13,000, sort of, have a mini up Victoria Police. They're ours, which is a fair thing. So yes, I was actually referring to bad apples. Okay. Men who are bad apples.

What's true? Yeah, that are actually doing the crimes and there's no one within the gay community. Who's actually stopping them down and say no. No, you can't do that, but it's not. It's not that there's no moral compass being applied. Yeah, and that's, that's a huge problem. And it is worried that there is this sort of behavior going on. And there is this level of. Well, we'll say selfishness happening as well and there was another

Other thought that sort of went through, a couple of thoughts, went through my head as you were were talking there. You know, he's it. Is it a community or our is it just now for gay men and to some extent lesbians? Is it just all the level of assimilation is am in the large parts of Australia? At least is so high. That, you know, there isn't a sense of community more just individualism. There's so many good chapters in here. We could talk about. I've got it and there's quite a few. I want to mention. Let's come back to gender which of course is a Major part of this show and there's a wonderful chapter by Ron Herzog. Tell us a bit about that one.

Well, London is, there is a gay man is amazing, mine and he has a sort of interesting story to tell and previously a Baptist Church minister. So I thought, well, this is perspective and he talked about gender performance, which was hidden exploring exploring a Spurs femininity or in by, he collects vintage antiques and clothing.

It's a rehab talented, women's clothing that he really likes and defended his is a very good photographer. They sort of had a sort of had a session and we went through a whole only talks about in the chapter, about sort of his head, how he was going through, an understanding this process and what he was exploring and what he felt. Yeah, which is wonderful. Now. This is the sort of stuff where we need. We need where we get to this sense of authenticity, which is really, really welcome. And, you know,

That, you know, where your I am. Sometimes as an educator. I'm asked, you know, maybe seriously and sometimes even sarcastically so how many genders are there? And I go around 8 billion. There's one for everyone. The question is potentially, can we be or out as much of our authentic selves? As we want in relation to anything, including gender, identity, and gender expression and Ron seems to have found a sense of authenticity, and that's a wonderful thing which we need. You've the thing about the

Just say it's wonderful that he could actually say it. If his background I was expecting. You can actually write an essay. They're being anonymous and I was expecting, you might do that will not mention his religious background, but it was wonderful. As you could actually say all that openly. Yeah, which is a one, a wonderful sign of the times that we, you know, I think we yes, we all know it's else. Do we know there's a long way to go but we also need to acknowledge. We have come some distance, which is really important.

There's a chapter in there, which look you, but outspoken, doesn't just mean Progressive in inverted. Commas topics. You've got a chapter in there from Brad. Hey, ho, which is an interesting dividing. The rainbow politics in our community. Brett tends more to the right or conservative end of the political / ideological Kaleidoscope. Now, let's talk a bit about that one because, you know, In fairness might be controversial and be a lot of people probably including Listen, as if this, well, left more left station. Who would disagree with what Brett says, but he does put up reasonable arguments. Tell us a bit about that one.

Yes, I suppose we've got to accept that within. No, I think you coined the church. Me, rather Community. There's got to be a variation in political views. The political views don't come with their sexuality or gender. This is really, you know, and the political views can change the various points in their life. And so I was pleased at him. He was at prepared to do something because I thought, well, I want his view put out because there are there are people in that Community. That's that, you know, holds

Of more right-wing political views. And so it's useful to understand how they're thinking, and also, we could have right-wing governments in in office. So we could it's been a bit of an insight into how they think and what are the real important buttons for them. Well, yeah, well that that's true. I mean, you know, I think Victoria sometimes at a state level first of all, we are given that we've had labor now for all, but four of the last 23 years, you know.

Oh, it's were becoming, we can fall into the bubble trap. And then, you know, obviously well, again, referring to what's going to come up later in the program with the religious discrimination, build a national level. We certainly have a right-wing government. And it's, how on Earth do we communicate with them? Which communication, being both talking and listening in equal amounts with equal Respect by all parties. It is a challenge. So we have to start having that conversation, you know, and we

The other thing with jonghyun tap now is, can we always rely on the Alp to support us? Maybe, maybe not. We'll come to that soon. You've written lots of chapters as well. I sort of in there. Pick a cut. Anything you want to talk about that? You else, you've written about a part. You mentioned the lateral hostility amongst gay men, but mention one or two others and what they're about.

Oh, the second coming out is it's button. Close to my heart. Yeah, and like I came out as a gay man about the age of 30. It wasn't an easy process. In fact, it was a very difficult one. And and when I got to about 50, I just sort of naturally fell into a phase when I read the salmon of that. And I was examining that I didn't with wise and mature eyes and, and, and I came up with the with some Revelations. And I stood three Head myself after the turmoil of coming out at the age of 30 and it changed my whole perspective. It was one of the things that Sports pawns are these books and these are ideas. You know how Sally. We sometimes have this sensor in front of us and we Center all the information that goes between us and the world and family and we have that constantly and it's a real drain on our brains. It costs a lot to maintain that and

Die pretty well, drop the sensor. When I was about the age of 50 and what happened was, this whole sex, my brain got released, and all the sudden. I had all these ideas about things. I wanted to say that came flooding through and I thought, what if I'd had that all my life. Anyway, that, that was, and that was part of this, what I call the second coming out. And I found an example in the book of a book of coming out stories as 60 something-year-old man, who basically,

Through the same process. We both became what we call a confident came in and it was it was a real turning point in my life. And I don't know whether we like, yeah, our communities have been invisible for so long. You really only just starting to get huge numbers of the population. Going through that age, group of 50s and 60s. Yep. And I wonder how many of them need to revisit it coming out. I don't need well, look, I, totally affirm this and it's very

A parallel for me, just the you know, just change the word Gator trans and by because I sometimes say, for the first twenty nine and a half years of my life. I was going south. I was trying to be, I say joking, jokingly now a cisgender heterosexual masculine beer-drinking men's football, loving male and failing abysmally, pretty much on all counts. And so, for the next 27 years roughly, I've learned and unlearned. I've claimed my authentic self and tried to get rid of the bits, that aren't me. I'm still doing

I call this the topsoil effect coming out whether it's gender identity and or sexual / romantic orientation. I don't really, I don't want to talk for intersex status here. I think that's a very different thing in a lot of ways, but there we get through all of that. Then what about as a person? And I would say that I'm only just coming to myself totally or largely as a person now, so I very very much relate to this and what happens, what happens next. And so, I think this is

Is a huge topic for discussion and it's one that, you know, it's a nice topic to have. Once it's a nice problem to have that. Now we are getting to this because we are getting more and more people out, which is really, really welcome. So it's a wonderful book, declaring all possible bias, and interest in it, in the immortal words of a 1980s television advertisement. Where do you get it? How can we get a copy of outspoken lgbtiq, stories? Also, there is one more question before we do that.

We acknowledge that. I'm I think the only woman contributor in this and possibly the only people person perhaps other than to our knowledge, cisgender gay men. So, you know, sort of just we wanted to acknowledge that and have it and just have a bit of a mention of that. Before we go through all the, where do we get it? Yes. Well, certainly, it was my intention to sort of have a representative group of writers and I started out inviting and sort of

Hello to various people and grouped in groups. I just found that like obviously my connections are better with within gate, the game, our community. So I suppose I was more able to be successful there, but I just wasn't getting the response, all of the commitment from other groups, and I don't know that why I don't know, because I think that the individual reasons or might have been just the time and I didn't have on the shoulders of the road people. Well, maybe because I wasn't, you know, it helps to be known and connected.

So and so I knowledge I got to deadlines and I thought I'll just going to go with it with the contributors that I have and it's a first, you know, it's a first truck path of a book like this. I do want to do another one and see how I go and I'll certainly be making an extra special effort to try and get more women, women's voices in there from range of areas. And so hopefully people will be able to see that the runs are on the board in terms of, I can't pull it together. I just

Educate them from old variety of voices for sure. Look I will give you this commitment live to air that I will gladly certainly help you promote a network. Next time. I think In fairness when you contacted me last year. Everyone was just I'll be polite and say flipping exhausted because of the damn plague, the pandemic and people were really struggling. I think we're gradually beginning to sort of poke a heads out the door again, so to speak and come back to life. So I think

Think that we will, you know, I think, next time you want to do, something will do that. And I will gladly help you network into more communities like trans and buy and where others, where I can. I will give you that commitment, very, very easily. I'm not sure if I'm an editor or not. I just, I think it's something. I'm quite skilled at doing. I see. Maybe it's an attention to detail thing. But seriously, I'll gladly assist you on that and when you want to give a call out for stories, come back on three Ciara.

We'll have a another chat about where you want to go.

Yes, thank you. That would be good. So, let's do it now. Start that pit. Again, outspoken lgbtiq stories from the coalface edited and in part contributed to by pieter De Scott de scaizi. Oh, where do you get it? How do people get it when you get it? Well, it's been self-published. But but using the infrastructure of the Amazon, which is, I investigated through to use and they look like the best and

And so it's available through Amazon as a Kindle ebook, which you don't have to have a Kindle. You just have that Kindle app on your computer or device and or hardback or paperback. And while there is also available in Hazen Hines. It's a new product Center. Absolutely. So there's lots of good ways to get it online. Go down to the well, the hairs book shop at the pride Center got to be careful. Now, we have separate to that. We have the hair whole still

Lynn Johnson Street, but that's a separate thing. And yeah, read read read, or it's good to get a good queer book. Peter. You've survived your first time on radio. See, we don't bite unless it's consensual of course to use an old gag. But seriously, thank you so much for giving up your Sunday to come and have a chat on the show and say it was a very enjoyable thing to contribute to the book. As in as a contributor. You made it easy, you gave constructive feedback listened and all that sort of thing. So,

Hopefully, when you do the next one, you'll have lots of other people, eager beavers willing to contribute. Yes. Thank you very much, darling. I've enjoyed enjoyed my experience today. Alright, then, hang on for just a second. I'll get a track rolling and we'll wind up off here, and there, it was pitted. We by itself for the last time in its original form, Rest in Peace, Mark and Paul and all the other many and hello to any surviving members of dragon before it gets massacred tonight on 60 Minutes. Now, content note mention of transphobia and lateral hostility in this segment. And before I go any further, I'm dedicating this segment to a straight to trans and gender diverse people in Australia, particularly.

Trans people of faith and young, trans people, including students.

I'm taking deep breaths because quite frankly. I'm not sure I can do this segment in with total calm and moderation. I'm well, dare. I say pun intended, praying to high heaven. That I'm not going to use swear words. What? An awful awful week. Let's go back and look at this. Go as much as it's difficult, 2017. We got marriage. Equality. And some people were saying the time. It's the end of the rainbow. Well, maybe for cisgender gaze, and Scan the lesbians, but not for the rest of us including trans.

I'm not going to sit here and preach from a place of absolute wisdom. By a long shot. All my emotions were brought up in a re-traumatizing way this week. The whole, you know, the 2017 postal survey were where trans were thrown under the bus by bus by careerists corporate cisgender lawyers, and we were snow job, so to speak. And the whole thing the whole lateral hops, Ility and Il was in a conversation during that part in 2017. It was unfortunately, very private. I can't name names. Even if I wanted to, I gave my word, but there was a clear mentioned by assist Jindal has been off. Some of us got together and decided, well, we'll have to sacrifice trans people and by people and sex positivity to get marriage. Gee. Thanks, and we ended up with the gay streamed middle class white picket fence large Department.

Store looking approach to getting marriage equality. And now so few of those Advocates of apologize promise to do better. Never to do that again. And so that's what came up for me this week, that feeling of Abandonment. And then let's take the next step following from Marriage equality where we thought it was. The end of the rainbow will know. We were barely halfway climbing up. One side, excuse any ableist references there because of course, we then had the ruddock inquiry into

Called religious freedom, which we didn't need to have an even radical. Despite the bias that I know he exhibited during that inquiry, even though there was no record number of people who spoke about about how biased and impart partial he was as opposed to impartial. And even he said there was no threat to religious freedom, but we ended up with the various iterations of the so-called religious discrimination Bill and then we come to this week.

I know my a lot of trans people felt spoken for spoken about without our consent in ways that we disagreed with. And this is a real real issue. I don't know. I'm not I'd be honest and say for a lot of personal and professional Reasons. I'm not as involved as I was three or four years ago. I've gone through some personal and professional hell in the last two years. So I don't know if the liberal National Party or the

I will pay consulted directly with trans and gender diverse. People parents of younger trans people or anyone like that. I was by chance at an event during Midsummer where I met with two federal, labor MP not Carnival, or pride, and managed to get a word in. And, you know, they were reassuring but they, of course, didn't promise anything. I felt they were authentic at least, but that's only a lucky. Lucky break.

And I express to them how much this was hurting and this is where I think we have a challenge and then we come to the events of this week, the attempt to use trans students. Let's call it what it was as a wedge. Well to quote, the rock of WWE Fame, at least in part. You can take your wedge, shine it up real nice and turn it sideways. I went better not say the rest around 12:42 p.m. Australian eastern daylight savings time.

I probably couldn't say that until after 9:00. We felt very used and abused and they'll be some people are saying all but all's well that ends well and the ends justify the means. Well, no, it doesn't. Because I read in a News Bulletin, The Squeeze, which is a new summary bullet and it's not an originator of news in itself. And this was not in quote marks, but it said, only about 20% of the liberal National Party. Party Room wanted the religious discrimination Bill to go.

Head and they then put a tweet from an ABC program which didn't say that as such. But if that is true, why is it that 22 people in this country? Think they can override. The will of about 77 percent of people who didn't want lgbtq students to be discriminated against, this is a disgrace and it just shows how out of touch. The elite are in this country and now I get to hopeless comments, which I totally with, which I totally agree and was going to bring up

It was once described to me by another cisgender Gomen not, I don't know whether the with the permission of this / of the person. I'm about to named Tim Wilson, was once described as someone who has the ear of the Prime Minister, while I can only assume Scott Morrison had a large amount of ear wax or Tim lost. The key to Scott Morrison's door. Where were you this week? Tim, and In fairness? Where was Warren inch? Where was someone, who I thought was a nice guy? Openly gay West, Australian, liberal Senator Dean Smith, maybe he

Holding his cards close to his chest, until things got to the Senate and maybe then he didn't need to and I'll acknowledge all of your comments here. Koffler quote yesterday, on Saturday Magazine on Joy FM. They talked about, they are D Bill and call as all called out, Tim Wilson and his act, in any action, in not crossing the floor, like, Trent Zimmerman. In first quote begin. Second quote listeners all had very negative feedback. After Tim about, Tim Wilson to the shock of David McCarthy, macko on Joy.

He's a co-host of Saturday magazine, Lee Micmac. It conceded that it wasn't wise to suck up to him anymore. In the Tim didn't return his calls to appear on the show. So I don't really like, you know, it's what happens when the rich white gay men Club stick together, regardless of politics. And well, I taupe and it was mentioning Dragon waffle is also referenced an article in today's 9 papers least. They say that about tonight. 60 Minutes episode. I won't be watching it. They'll be enough.

Names. And I don't want to give 60 Minutes or Scott Morrison ratings.

Having said all of that, the question that's beginning to form in my mind, this cannot happen again.

We are seeing this rise in transphobia. It was interesting. Not long after the situation, you know that we can't have trans people thrown under the bus anymore. I should point out that Senator Claire Chandler, even though on Thursday when the bills, the trends are the religious discrimination Bill and sex discrimination amendments went to the senate or didn't go to the Senate. She still introduced a bill about women and

Some sports. So we're trying, you know, still trying to get the trans hate agenda on the agenda and it's not good enough. One of our listeners is SMS tinge on quote. Please note this maintains the status quo, despite the bills, failure to pass gay and trans students. Teachers can still be set. Well, that's true. John we didn't take any steps forward. But the thing is had the whole religious discrimination bill being passed. It would have been what I will call a net backwards by a long way. The whole damage to say,

So many groups, lgbtq a, not necessarily intersex people with disabilities women minority faiths, many, many others. It would have been huge. Would have been devastating. So we have to be really, really clear. Then also the override of any other state territory or federal anti-discrimination and anti vilification laws with the statement of belief.

Comment and the whole, the overall balance of the combination of bills. This the proposed religious discrimination bills, and the it was not going to be counter balanced by the amendments to the sex Discrimination Act, regardless of who they included, LG be gay, lesbian, lesbian, gay, bi, or just trans labor. Well, we're not sure where they, they are going to go next. I'm happy to have anyone from labor on this show.

Show to give a commitment that they will do it. A more usual, religious discrimination Bill and then go again for the amendments to the sex Discrimination Act and make sure teachers are covered as well, which they were not in the Amendments that went through in the wee hours of Thursday morning, Australian eastern, daylight savings time, but it says questions about. Where were our I'm there's a some not as involved. So this is a question, not a statement. What did some of

Well, funded so-called lgbtqi A+ organizations, you know, do during the last few weeks where they, you know, sort of off at Pride, March, while waving banners and taking up space. Did they ring up politicians? Where were they? We're, you know, we're all the people who supported marriage equality. Where would they wear? Was the union movement? You know, I got rung up during the postal. So they are you going to talk to your family about marriage. Well, my, you know, my parents while who are

Live at that time. Um, since passed away. We have a good had a good relationship. We don't talk about queer stuff. It's just not can't work. So all of these things. But it says about how are we going to stop this negativity to trans people first in Australia, but let's also look at around the world. The UK is now rated as just as bad as Poland and Hungary, According to some research that I have, you know, in terms of being transphobic, the jolly old.

You should pause John schuhmann of red gum. Fame once said and congratulations on his order of Australia. Yeah that he once described England in the 1980s as a third world country pretending to be second world war. It's probably about 9th World by now. However, you want to Define that. So

Yeah, I sort of we've got a long way to go. The thing that came out of it for this week is yes, and also in terms of the city Point Catholic College issue in Brisbane.

That's yeah, so many people wanted to support our lgbti and including trans young people. That was what was at 560 thousand signatures over the summer to in relation to that petition. And now I need 167. And that's, you know, sort of what's that 14 times 12? Or something Sydney to Eating that right of the contract for City Point College. So suppose you could say in the end you no decency one that and there's been so many opinion polls put out by yougov commissioned by just equal declared my interest that I produced in small volunteering for them, but just equal support, you know, saying we don't want the right to discriminate against our rainbow young people. So you could say loved one, but the end doesn't justify. The means this just can't happen again the damage too.

Trans people's been huge. It's been wonderful to see. So many trans people. Contacted speaking up across a range of media of all ages. I got contacted by crikey. Yet the wonderful Joe in can talkin about religion and trans. And a couple of media Outlets. You had young people. You had people from parents groups, the whole and family groups the whole thing. So, and that's just it just can't go on.

So, I don't know what have all the answers to that. I haven't been able to Think Through. It's only been a few days. I spent yesterday at the beach recovering. Look at least I didn't get sunburned, but we've got some problems. We need to talk about and how we prevent this happening again because it can't. And well, I suppose we're at least now safe until the federal election and that will depend on the results, which is just spied. Any opinion polls. We can't really

Lawn them anymore. They specific reasons. They're not so clear. So, there it is. And rant, hopefully won't get taken for defamation or have this bit of any bits of the podcast taken down. Don't about this just can't go on and we'll talk a lot about some, some other things in the final segment. Just wanted to mention in terms of the one of the previous announcements. You can hear a history of yaran. Of course, today's Melbourne Pride not run Within Me.

Meters of where I am. It's 3C are talking about sort of the queer ways up project. Yours Truly had the fun of recording some voice-overs for that and they'll be released in if not today in the next few weeks. I will give credit to the five liberals, who crossed the floor in the lower house, pretty courageous stuff. G surprise, surprise, Peter cridland, people lacking craigclan in the certain murder Media newspapers.

Put this morning, said that they were saboteurs to their own party. No Peter. It's called principal and Humanity. So nice. Try there some more messages in from Hoffler and not quite sure about these actually. Well, I'm you know, I told, you know, I've totally agreed privilege can Trump sexuality every time and one of the good things. I'll come to that in sort of

Of this week. Look I'm Vic talking about this for a long time. Sexism from gay men. I've copped a lot of it in my time time where someone called me an X that I lectured like a schoolmarm and I was XXX ugly. Honor was back on a Yahoo group. The number of times gay men from certain so-called leading Igbti Community, organizations have spoken over me and spoken down to me. Hoffler comments about when a gay and P walked out on Julia banks in

And I'm not sure what we're disagreeing with their popular because I totally agree this a lot of sexism in gay men and I could there's plenty of times or the time I then sitting MP shouted at me. Shouted at me and other women, CIS and Trans in a room because we disagreed with them, but he didn't shout or even take up issue with any of the men who disagreed with him. Hmm. Anyway,

So sort of there we go. Now talking sexism and violence against women. If there was one thing that helped revive me as well as the beach Thursday evening after I'd had a bit of rest time. I did watch the full National Press Club conference with Grace time and Brittany Higgins. Well, that was like the purest coffee and adrenaline and psychological fresh. Are they?

Could be and you know, while you're right awful we can call it out. We have to call out this misogyny and hypocrisy that exists from gay men. As I say, well last, I've been had criticisms of some people pulled from podcasts even though I have facts to back it up, but sometimes we've got a call it and, you know, they would just wonderful and

Sort of there was a good question during the press conference from Schubert Krishnan. Who's an SBS journalist? Who asked about what I saw as a linkage. How on Earth could you have passed the religious discrimination bill, which was so appalling when you know, which would have effectively made it harder for women in all workplaces, including Federal Parliament, and the day before, of course, you had the

So-called apology to Brittany Higgins. Anyway, I'm for going way over time. I've got to make way for freedom of species who are due next. Be good to have Nick and Caroline in as well. Getting back to stuff for the year. What's going on today in Melbourne, very quickly. As I said not far from me where I am. Is once I've done the podcast. I'll get out there and join the Melbourne Pride celebrations on the North side or side versus South Side, a huge. Congratulations to all the Sex workers who got decriminalization through? I will try to catch up with people from Vixen Collective and others over the next week. It's just been so much to catch up on this stuff to talk about about Pride March and Carnival as well, but haven't got time today. It's been a pact program. Perhaps try to catch up next week. Gosh, not sure what music to take us out with today, as we head into freedom of species because yes, it's one of those days.

But given that it is the apology of the sorry day. I think that the appropriate choice would have to be have to be have to be just a little bit of Midnight Oil and Gadigal Land from me here on Kulin nation's land. Thanks for tuning in to out of the pan. I'm Sally Goldner catchyer next week.
